

The image features the LELO logo in the top left corner. The background is a stylized anatomical illustration in shades of brown and green. On the left, a male profile is shown with a dashed white line indicating the location of the prostate gland. On the right, a female profile is shown with a dashed white line indicating the location of the anterior fornix erogenous zone (A-spot).

LELO

everything you need to know about A & P spot stimulation

No matter the gender, SORAYA Beads™ is designed to offer unprecedented anal stimulation for all.

For penis owners, it's pretty straightforward. Use SORAYA Beads™ to stimulate your prostate in an entirely new way with groundbreaking technology.

Vulva owners are also in for a special treat. Thanks to the proximity of the vaginal and the anal canal, SORAYA Beads™ allows for indirect stimulation of the anterior fornix erogenous zone aka the A-spot. Located a few inches behind the G-spot, it is sometimes called the female prostate, which, when stimulated, is known to boost vaginal lubrication and the success rate of reaching an orgasm.